TWO GOLFERS, THREE ARMS

Gordon Spare (right) of the Marine Drive Golf and Country Club at Vancouver broke his arm but that didn't stop him from competing in the Ogopogo Open Golf Tournament this weekend. Normally a seven handicapper, Spare shot rounds of 124 and 112 Thursday and Friday. He uses two hands to chip and putt but drives with one arm. Reg Saunders of Kelowna who birdied the 18th hole and finished with a 68 Friday is just three strokes behind leader Johnny Russell of Vancouver. The latter has a 36-hole total of 139 while Saunders has 142.

UN To Consider New Suez Crisis

A LONG LOOK AT THE LEGS COSTS SCOTSMAN IN COURT

FALKIRK, Scotland (Reuters)—A middle-aged man was fined £15 ($47) here Friday for staring at the legs of two mini-skirted girls in a train. The girls complained to police that Jack Winchester stared at them "and in particular at our legs." He kept looking, they said, even when asked to stop. A local court found Winchester guilty of a breach of the peace. "Next time I'll have to travel with my eyes shut," Winchester said as he left court. "There's not really anywhere else to look."

New UN Force May Take Years

OTTAWA (CP)—There appears little likelihood that Parliament will have to be recalled from its 11-week vacation to approve any Canadian participation in a new United Nations peacekeeping force in the Middle East.

Informants say it will probably be months or even years before any kind of peace settlement begins to emerge between Israel and the Arab states.

After the 1956 Suez war, it was five months before Israel agreed to withdraw its forces from Sharm el-Sheikh, which commands the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's only southern outlet to the sea.

Israel finally abandoned Sharm only after a promise from the United States that it would "exercise the right of free and innocent passage" through the gulf.

When Egypt ejected the UN Emergency Force in May and re-occupied Sharm, blockading the gulf to Israeli shipping, Israel regarded it as an act of war.

HAS SITE AGAIN Israel has Sharm again and is unlikely to give it up a second time without some international guarantee more binding than the U.S. promise of a decade ago.

Informants say Canada and other nations realize that for the time being at least they are going through the motions in seeking a mediator between Israel and the Arab states. Even if one were found, there would be little hope of any progress in negotiations for a long time.

One reason for this, informants say, is that it would only keep alive Egypt's resentment against Canada for suggesting that Egypt had accepted some limitation on its sovereignty by agreeing to the presence of UNEF in 1956.

ROUE AT STAKE This would prejudice any renewed peacekeeping role for Canada in the Middle East.

An interesting theory is being advanced in some quarters here concerning Mr. Thant's ready acceptance of Egypt's demand for withdrawal of UNEF.

Informants say Yugoslavia and India were going to pull out of the force even if Mr. Thant had tried to keep it in being a little longer by playing for time.

This could have led to internal disintegration of the force and consequently a black eye for nations such as Canada which support peacekeeping operations.

By quick withdrawal of UNEF, Mr. Thant saved the peacekeepers this embarrassment and thus kept the idea of peacekeeping alive.

U.S. marines, badly battered by artillery and ground assault forces early in the week, claimed overwhelming victory today as they announced that 505 Communists were killed in the last two days, mostly by air and artillery strikes. Marine losses for this period were listed as 17 dead and 46 wounded.

For the whole week, the marines lost 134 dead, 631 wounded and five missing.

Many of the reports of the dead were based on sightings from the air.

In ground action Friday a marine unit, that had lost 12 dead and 30 wounded by Thursday, more than evened the score when it caught 200 North Vietnamese in the open northeast of Con Thien.

DEATH RIPS GULLEY After the marines boxed the enemy troops in a narrow draw, blistering air strikes and artillery were called in. A marine spokesman said 150 bodies were counted after the smoke cleared. No marines were reported killed in the clash.

Bombs, Artillery Exchanged In Tense Suez Canal Area

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Egypt and Israel both asked today for an urgent meeting of the United Nations Security Council following the new outbreak of hostilities in the Suez Canal area.

Informants said the council probably would be summoned into session at 6 p.m. EDT today.

Each side was understood to have accused the other of starting the outbreak.

Endalkachew Makonnen of Ethiopia, council president for July, began consultations with the other UN members over the timing of the meeting as soon as he received the requests that it be convened.

CANALS BOMBED The call came as Egypt and Israel fought with artillery and aircraft on the east bank of the Suez Canal today in the worst flare-up since the Middle East war ended a month ago.

Cairo radio said Israeli air force planes attacked Egyptian positions in Port Said and Port Fuad at the northern entrance to the Suez Canal and an air battle raged.

Cairo radio also said the Egyptian government demanded an urgent session of the United Nations Security Council in New York to deal with what it called "the new aggression."

A dispatch from Tel Aviv said fighting flared up along several miles of the canal with Israeli jets strafing Egyptian artillery, which the Israelis claimed blasted Israeli tanks on the eastern banks of the waterway.

It was the second straight weekend in which fighting broke out in violation of the Arab-Israeli ceasefire which went into effect June 10 and halted Israel's sweep into the territories of three Arab nations—Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

An Egyptian army communiqué said six Israeli Mirage jets—French-built planes—penetrated Egyptian air space over Port Said and Port Fuad.

SAYS GUNS FIRED It added that Egyptian anti-aircraft guns opened up and Egyptian planes took to the air. It did not say how many.

The broadcast said an air and artillery battle on the canal was in progress.

Earlier, Egypt said its forces were repelling an Israeli attempt to advance on Port Fuad. It said the clash came at Ras Elish on the east bank of the canal.

An Israeli communiqué said Egyptian artillery fired into its positions, killing two Israeli soldiers and wounding 13.

The Tel Aviv communiqué said the fighting had spread to El Qantara, 12 miles south of Ras Elish.

ISRAELIS BLAMED Cairo radio said the Israelis started the incident when they tried to advance north along the canal toward Port Fuad but were intercepted by Egyptian forces.

The Egyptians said they destroyed three Israeli armored cars and a tank in the battle.

Observers in Tel Aviv said the flare-up indicated the Egyptians were moving newly-acquired Soviet equipment up to the front as it was the first appearance of artillery in the area.

The area on the northeast bank of the canal is the furthest point west reached by the Israeli army during the six-day Middle East war last month.

SAIGON (AP)—Infantry battles and small-arm duels along the demilitarized zone over the last week have killed 836 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers, the U.S. command said today.

U.S. marines, badly battered by artillery and ground assault forces early in the week, claimed overwhelming victory today as they announced that 505 Communists were killed in the last two days, mostly by air and artillery strikes. Marine losses for this period were listed as 17 dead and 46 wounded.

Psychiatric Tests Ordered For Coast Sniper Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate James Bartman Friday ordered a psychiatric examination for a man charged with capital murder in Thursday night's sniper attack that left two persons dead and two others wounded.

Police have so far been stymied in trying to piece together events that led up to the 20 minutes of terror in the city's fashionable Point Grey district.

Spokesmen said Arthur John Towell, 35, a gaunt, former RCAF airman charged with two counts of capital murder and two of attempted murder, has refused to say anything.

Towell was arrested little more than 15 minutes after David Webster, a 31-year-old university professor, and his 30-year-old wife Marlene were shot to death in the back yard of their home.

Wounded were Patti Barrass, 18, and Hilda Baxter, 56. All four were hit during a fusillade of rifle fire from second-storey windows in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Towell.

COLLECTED GUNS Towell, a tall, stoop-shouldered gun collector who lives with his parents, appeared briefly before Magistrate Bartman Friday morning. His only comment was that he would like to obtain the services of a lawyer.

Magistrate Bartman then remanded him to next Friday without plea on any of the charges.

Deputy Police Chief John Fisk said at a news conference that police seized seven rifles, five hand guns, one shotgun and 2,366 rounds of ammunition. Thirteen spent cartridges were also found in the Towell house; only one of the rifles had been fired, though three were loaded, he said.

The deputy chief also disclosed that Towell had been in the air force for 15 years and was discharged for medical reasons about two years ago. The suspect suffered a head injury while serving in Germany, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster had four children aged six months to 10 years, none of whom were injured in the shooting. The children are being cared for by their grandfather, former New Democratic MP Arnold Webster.

The family had planned to leave for Boston at the end of the month. Mr. Webster, an assistant education professor at the nearby University of B.C., recently won a scholarship that was to have taken him to Harvard University for post-graduate studies.

Mr. Webster at one time was a high school teacher in Kelowna, and was active in Rowing club affairs. His brother, John, operated The Trend House, at Shops Capri a few years ago.

Only slight damage has been reported to the record cherry crop in the Kelowna area as a result of recent rainfall.

Reports of some cherries splitting have been received from growers in the Okanagan Mission area but crops in the East Kelowna area are relatively undamaged according to packing house officials.

C. P. Butler, manager of the Cascade Co-Op Union, said damage reported by growers is slight with the majority of crops as yet unaffected by the rain.

Splitting of some Bing cherries has been noted but a good crop of Lambert's is expected according to L. T. Jessop, of B.C. Orchards Co-Op.

"The amount of damage to cherry crops is still too early to estimate. If the weather remains cool little damage may occur," he said.

Growers are using blowers on their cherries to try to dry the crops.

F. W. Morton, district horticulturist, said no estimate of damage that may have taken place has been reported.

Fire Cost Away Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Forest Service said Friday the cost of fighting forest fires during the past week amounted to more than the total cost of fighting fires during the first six months of 1966.

In 1966, $233,600 was spent fighting fires from January to the end of June. Total cost of fighting fires last week was $274,000.

Tegid Jones, spokesman for the forest service, said the total cost of fire fighting this year has totalled $620,000, about triple last year's total.

Hong Kong Police Slain By Red Machine-Gunners

HONG KONG (CP)—Chinese machine-gun fire today killed five Hong Kong policemen at a border town in the worst outbreak of violence here in many years.

The police, two Pakistanis and three Chinese, were killed by machine-gun fire from across the main street of the Sha Tau Kok village straddling the Hong Kong-Chinese border. Eleven were wounded.

More than 200 British-trained troops who rushed into the border area to relieve some 80 policemen at their post also came under fire.

A government spokesman said tonight that order was restored in the village and troops were helping police maintain order.

He said that at one point during the clash police opened fire, hitting two Chinese, but that troops had not used firearms and suffered no casualties.

The spokesman said the police opened fire when a large crowd of Chinese crossed the village main street which forms the border and tried to destroy a protective fence around the police post. The police also fired pellets from tear gas guns.

A machine-gunner then opened fire from the Chinese side of the village.

Nigeria Explodes In War -Federal Troops Pushed Back

LAGOS (Reuters)—Federal troops battled eastern secessionists today as Nigeria's 18-month-old political crisis exploded into civil war.

The federal radio here reported Friday night that troops penetrated into the Eastern region which declared itself the independent Republic of Biafra 38 days ago, and captured two key towns.

Laf Biafra radio, and eastern troops, reported the federal forces at four places and inflicted heavy casualties.

Nigeria radio interrupted scheduled programs Friday night to announce that federal troops seized the eastern towns of Obolo and Obudu.

Obolo is about five miles inside the eastern region and only 40 miles from the eastern capital of Enugu. Obudu is a hill town at the end of a road leading into the east.

The radio said federal troops were ordered to penetrate the east and capture eastern leader Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu and "his rebel gang."

A federal spokesman said the 33-year-old colonel almost certainly would be tried for treason if captured.

The fighting came as a climax to a deepening crisis between Ojukwu and Maj.-Gen. Yakubu Gowon, military head of the federal government.

At the heart of Ojukwu's position is the fear of the eastern tribesmen that they would be dominated by the influential and more numerous northern Hausas. His forces are estimated at about 5,000 troops.

The eastern chief said last week that "zero hour" had arrived and that he would launch "total war" if Biafra is invaded.

Mr. Webster at one time was a high school teacher in Kelowna, and was active in Rowing club affairs. His brother, John, operated The Trend House, at Shops Capri a few years ago.

Now - Famous Sir Francis Has Cousin In Rutland

By ART GRAY

The recent epic journey of Sir Francis Chichester, in which he circled the globe in a small sailing vessel, alone, at the age of 66, captured the imagination of the world. The Queen awarded him knight-hood, officially bestowed upon him on Friday.

Newspapers and periodicals all over the world carried stories of his adventures, but many residents of the Kelowna district may not know that living here, following the reports of the journey with great personal interest, is a resident of the Belgo district who is a cousin of the renowned Sir Francis.

Bertram W. Chichester, well known outdoorsman, whose films of camping, hunting, fishing, and of Okanagan and other B.C. scenery, have entertained so many residents of the Valley is related to the famous traveler, and has been corresponding with him for many years.

Bert Chichester has met his now - famous cousin several times, the last occasion being in London, in the spring of 1930. He has heard from him from time to time, received Christmas cards and so on. He has a copy of Sir Francis Chichester's autobiography, "The Lonely Sea and the Sky," which makes fascinating reading. Many who are now familiar with the latter's exploits with a sailing ship may not know that he was an airman in his younger days, and made many spectacular and hazardous flights, including a solo flight from London to Sydney, Australia back in 1929-30. He followed this up with a solo flight in a Gypsy Moth from New Zealand to Australia, via Norfolk Island, a gruelling journey.

Judge Bruce J. S. Macdonald of Windsor, Ont., reserved his decision in the case of lawyer Donald W. Reid, 38, whose county court trial started June 12 and had been adjourned until Friday.

Reid is charged with offering bribes to William A. Pike of Stratford, Ont., a former mortgage manager for British Mortgage and Trust Co. of Stratford, in a bid to expedite approval of a mortgage.

Mr. Pike testified that he was offered $10,000 to approve an application by Wildor Holdings Ltd. of London for a $1,500,000 mortgage for construction of a London shopping centre.

Testimony showed that the principal officers of Wildor in 1961 and 1962 were Reid, William A. P. King and his son, David King, all of London.

KELOWNA'S CITY PARK has been so busy already this year the city's traffic officers have had to barricade the entrance on at least two occasions, when no more cars could be parked. During the non-denominational church service June 25 and the centennial picnic last Saturday there were as many people in the park as anyone has ever seen at one time. The visitors, certainly not all from the city and district, proved Kelowna is famous as a vacation spot throughout North America. Having an upside down ball here on the monkey bars are Alan, 6, and Jimmy (Courier Photos By Kent Stevenson) Oakes, 9, of Tucson, Ariz. Although there are many other public swimming and beach areas available in the area the City Park draws people like a magnet. See story below.

Entrance Gets Troubles At Kelowna's City Park

Beautiful is the word most often used but even that normally-flattering remark falls short in describing Kelowna's City Park.

"A 35-acre cure-all" is the term one resident used.

If asked individually, probably everyone of the park's 100,000 visitors a year would offer some type of compliment.

The City Park is that type of place. It attracts as many complaints as visitors.

People who enter leave their problems at the entrance.

The park's location affords people entering the city from the eastern entrance a view often described as the best in Canada. From there they are attracted like nails to a magnet. The park's statistics are impressive.

Seventy varieties of trees and 40 types of shrubs are spread over the park's 35 acres. Hot Sands Beach by Lake Okanagan draws from 700 to 1,000 water enthusiasts daily.

A modern playground provides entertainment for some 500 children every day; while another 300 people enjoy the park's picnic grounds.

Parking spaces are usually ample but sunny days often leave vacant spots in demand.

For those who are not interested in taking part in any of the many events normally going on at the park, benches or just a cool spot on the grass under some large tree make a visit worthwhile.

Improvements are being made every year in the park.

A large share of the city parks budget goes to the maintenance and improvement of the area, but a major part is spent undoing the work of vandals.

Parks foreman, Geoff Cottle, says cases of destroyed plants and trees are reported every year.

"I fail to see what possible thrill anyone could achieve by destroying what takes years to build and what will take just as many years to remedy," he said.

"The City Park is perhaps the greatest single attraction Kelowna has and yet these people persist in destroying the work done."

Hours Of Work On Display At Checkers Arena Car Show

Girl watching took a back seat in Kelowna Friday as the Checkers Car Club centennial car show shifted into high gear at the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena.

Highly-polished paint, gleaming chrome and luxuriously padded interiors greeted car enthusiasts and spectators alike, as years of work, craftsmanship and talent went on display.

Meticulous care, plenty of elbow-grease and mechanical skill is incorporated to transform an ordinary car into a dazzling customized showpiece.

Age has no bearing on choosing a car for rebuilding and customizing, as cars from the 1920s to brand new models are displayed. The original make of a car is sometimes hard to determine after an intrepid car club member goes to work.

What was once an early-model car with a top speed of 40 mph may become a brilliantly-hued roadster or dragster with an engine full of chrome, capable of going more than twice as fast as the car was originally intended to do.

The interior of some of the cars may surprise some people. The upholstery, carpeting and the polished dashboard would rival that of some homes for cleanliness and design.

One of the entries by a member of the Checkers Car Club is a 1936 Ford, representing 2 1/2 years of work.

Many of the cars are equipped with stereo tape sets, all of them have seat belts, extra gas, oil and water containers, fire extinguishers and other safety equipment.

Keith Clark of Vancouver has his 1926 Model T Coupe at the car show and a 1930 Model A Ford, fully restored, is on display.

Boots Olson has his $25,000 1963 Corvette, called Fant'Asia, referred to as the world's most exotic Corvette. His car is equipped with a miniature TV set and telephone as well as a fantastic paint job.

The look of power emanates from the chrome engines and reaches back along sleek lines to the chunky racing slicks at the rear of the cars.

Films of several Indianapolis and Daytona 500 races are being shown during the car show, which continues all day today and concludes Sunday. A total of 557 paid people saw the show Friday.

Excuses were flying around the clubhouse Friday after the second round of the Centennial Ogopogo Golf Tournament at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club. One golfer with an obvious poor round came up with a case. "My coordination was no good," he said. "I couldn't even chew gum."

A chamber of commerce executive meeting was scheduled for 8 a.m. Thursday. Only four people turned up and after a waiting while a phone call was made to the home of the president, people living in his house said he was at his Westbank summer home and could not be reached. The vice-president was the next one to contact and his wife said he was in Montreal. Then a call to Jim Donald, secretary-manager and his wife said he was out changing sprinklers, but the meeting was cancelled. So Hector Turvey, Bruce Winslow, Fred Russell and The Daily Courier reporter continued on to work where messages were found to say the meeting was cancelled, as well as a loosey corn.

Among those mentioned in the Kelowna RCMP news was a 12-year-old boy and a 10-year-old girl who were taken into custody on the Kelowna Road and a first aid kit found in a car in Rutland. The owners could contact the police station.

The Kelowna International Regatta Association is seeking old Regatta pictures for a book. Anyone who has a picture of a Regatta boat or person should take them to the Regatta headquarters on Mill Street.

The teenagers in Rutland will hold a hostess party Saturday at the Rutland conference hall to help fund a Rutland Teen Town. Starting time for the hostess party is 8 p.m.

Murray Hill, formerly of Kelowna, has been awarded the McKendrick Memorial scholarship in engineering at the University of British Columbia. He finished his third year in an engineering physics course and also was the recipient of a $500 professional engineers prize, awarded for the best summer essay.

Mr. Hill received his education in Kelowna prior to going to university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hill of Kelowna.

One of the largest dogs in the Kelowna and District Kennel Club's dog show and obedience trials was a Great Dane owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Labarr of Elk Grove, Calif.

The dog, called Danger, is a 150-pounder and also won a trophy of food a day. Mrs. Labarr said she has been showing the dog for 10 years but this was her first time at a dog show in Canada.

Good news for skiers and fishermen who use the Joe Rich Road is the paving of the 7.5-mile reconstructed section is due to begin shortly. A contract for the work was awarded to the Kelowna District Road District.

A progress report on the three-day summer festival of the arts in August will also be presented at the meeting. Also included is a discussion of the school of the fine arts.

Dog Show A Success

The City Park Oval assumed the look of a canine community again Friday as 300 dogs competed in the Kelowna and District Kennel Club dog show and obedience trials.

The dog judged best in show Friday was an Afghan hound, Taza's Sultan of Mar Venus, owned by Karen Titen of Orinda, Calif., a dog with beautiful long black hair.

The best Canadian-bred dog Friday was a Welsh Corgi, Dogdene Dandy-Don of Texandra, owned by Penanda Kennels and the best Canadian-bred puppy was Kwo-Ting Toni's Sun of Lorraine, owned by Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Watson of Victoria.

V. W. Williams, president of the Canadian Kennel Club, and one of the judges said the Kelowna show was "one of the smoothest dog shows I have ever judged."

"There was a high quality of dogs in every group. This was the largest dog show ever held in the Okanagan and a real success," Mr. Williams said.

He has been judging dog shows across Canada since 1921.

Arts Report On Monday

A report on items discussed at the recent centennial arts conference at the University of British Columbia will be presented Monday at a directors' meeting of the Kelowna and District Arts Council.

Two delegates from the arts council attended the conference. Charles Patrick and George Stevenson will report to the meeting at 8 p.m. in the library of the Immaculate High School.

A progress report on the three-day summer festival of the arts in August will also be presented at the meeting. Also included is a discussion of the school of the fine arts.

He later served as minister of trade and commerce and is now described as one of the most cool, efficient and responsible members of the opposition party.

Senator McCutcheon is a past president of the Canadian Welfare Council; chairman of the Ontario Cancer Institute, Princess Margaret Hospital and a member of the board of St. Michael's Hospital; a governor of the University of Toronto and of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish; past chairman and president of the Social Planning Council, Metro Toronto; trustee for many years of the Greater Toronto United Appeal and now honorary chairman; honorary chairman of the Capital Appeal, Catholic Children's Aid and a director of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Regatta Policing Who Foots Bill?

The 61st Kelowna International Regatta is little more than a month away and no one knows how the city will be policed during the four-day period.

This year the British Columbia Cup unlimited hydroplane race will follow the Regatta by a week, and again extra policing will be required.

In spite of the rapid approach of the two major events of the summer season, officials are playing a game of musical chairs. No one wants to get left holding the bill, which last year amounted to $600.

To adequately police the city during the Regatta last year, the regular RCMP detachment force of 18 was augmented by 20 policemen from out-of-town detachments, also 16 auxiliaries, all working 12-hour shifts.

In addition, the seven local police cars were increased by four general duty cars, three highway patrol cars, one van and two motorcycles.

The only extra cost involved was the wages of the 16 auxiliary policemen, who were trained in Kelowna for just such a purpose—to aid the local force when required.

Last year the Regatta Association paid the bill, a part of the overall deficit which resulted from last year's event. This year the association says policing is the city's responsibility.

The city has informed Staff Sgt. G. A. Phillips, head of the Kelowna detachment, it will definitely not pay the salary of auxiliary police.

The city would like to see policemen brought in from other points to make up the force required to handle crowds during the two major events.

"The city's attitude is: why should we pay $600 when there are policemen available free-of-charge," the staff sergeant said. "And who can blame them? The question is will Victoria 'E' division headquarters agree?"

He has asked for 20 extra policemen, he might be given as few as 10, or Victoria may say no.

If Victoria won't agree to police Kelowna with men from outside detachments, and the city won't pay for auxiliaries, the staff sergeant said he could end up facing the Regatta with the 12 men the city pays for on his force.

"Twelve men, with maybe two on the midnight shift and 40,000 to 50,000 people around—I wonder what will happen," the staff sergeant said.

"It will be interesting to see." Asked what he thought would happen he said: "They will tear the town apart."

Last year on the final nights of the Regatta, there were 57 arrests made. When the Kelowna cells overflowed, prisoners were taken to the Vernon jail. Scores of other drunks were sent home as police patrolled city streets.

A committee set up at the request of the chamber of commerce, to look into the causes of rowdiness at major celebrations and to make recommendations, suggested last month that policing be increased.

D. E. Jabour, Kelowna lawyer who acted as chairman of the committee, said it police extra men are needed then they should be heeded and not let "a few bucks" stand in the way of adequate protection.

"The city and Regatta officials invite these people to Kelowna and it naturally follows there will be exuberance," he said.

"If the auxiliaries are needed and the city refuses to pay for them, then the city cannot moan and groan if disruption occurs," he said.

Canal Bill Due Monday

A draft resolution for a proposed survey on the feasibility of building the Okanagan-Shuswap canal was considered by the Kelowna city council in committee Tuesday.

A resolution had been passed at a meeting in Vernon in May to ask the minister of highways to implement a survey on the possibility of building a canal from the northern end of Okanagan Lake to join with the Shuswap River at Enderby.

Officials studied a report in February made by the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act (ARDA), but the report dealt with irrigation and flood control. The survey now requested would concern a navigable canal.

The resolution is to be considered at the open city council meeting Monday.

Centennial Vehicle Tour Chugs Into Kelowna Monday

As their contribution to centennial celebrations, Canada's antique car clubs will stage the world's longest and largest gathering of antique cars, in the form of a tour across Canada.

Enthusiasts will dip skinny tires and wood-spoked wheels in the Pacific Ocean at Victoria Friday, and the tour will end at St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 21.

Local co-ordinator is D. G. (Don) McKay.

Approximately 35 cars will visit Kelowna on their drive from coast-to-coast, and another 150 cars will travel on two branch routes in Southern Ontario. A total of 250 are expected to converge in Ottawa and Montreal.

The cars have been restored to "mint" condition, which is absolutely necessary for 5,000 miles of transcontinental roads. Even though drivers have the advantage of modern engineering and good roads, the scarcity of parts presents a continual problem. Did you ever try to locate a brass radiator for a Model T Ford, or a tire for a Stutz Bearcat?

The oldest car is a 1902 Oldsmobile. Tour Chairman Roger Belfry will bring his 1905 Cadillac to Kelowna.

Arrangements have been made by the Kelowna Centennial Celebrations Committee for the tour to arrive in Kelowna Monday at approximately 4 p.m., and the cars will be on display at the Centennial parking lot.

The Kiwanis Club of Kelowna will host a pancake breakfast for the drivers and their families Tuesday, and the tour will move off at 9 a.m.

Canadian Identity Poser: Not Any One Factor

The Queen, our Queen, has come to our birthday party, and many who were there, either personally or by radio or TV, have said her presence "made the party." Our becoming aware of a new depth of Canadian life is deeply intertwined with the fact that she is our Queen.

Some people tell me they think Queen Elizabeth will be the last to hold the royal position; and from the tone of their voices I gather they feel that already the role has lost all its significance. Some openly say that if there is to come a true Canadian identity including Quebec then the sooner we sever the attachment to the Queen the better. To this I would make a double reply.

First, I would say that the Canadian identity, when it comes, will not be the result of any one factor. Neither can it be rushed, or given a deadline or even an "estimated time of arrival." With people of every race and language and nation pouring into Canada in the thousands per month, we must patiently let the Canadian identity, our sense of oneness and destiny, grow.

While, in my opinion, we should be doing more to nurture and encourage these new-comers to think and feel like Canadians, we must not expect the result to come by the clock or the calendar. It must be allowed to grow and blossom at its own speed; and no one knows yet what it will look like or feel like. So then, I cannot agree that eliminating the Queen would be a primary factor in achieving Canadian identity.

On the contrary, and this is my second answer, I believe that in the midst of the turbulent mixing of cultures the Queen, as the central person, has a very important part to play. If we were to remove her what would be left at the emotional and cultural centre of Canadian life? Important as the Bill of Rights, and the BNA Act, and other similar documents are, they could not take the place of the Queen. They are, at best, paper, words and ideas, which can never take the place of a person. Many of our new citizens have suffered the coldness and even the brutality of a life that had at its centre an idea or an ideology or even a written constitution.

They came here to find a truer life. While the Queen is at the centre of the Dominion and the Commonwealth, she is the living, gracious, personal embodiment of our belief that, whatever happens, persons in families are of primary importance. The evaluating question which every event and policy and program in every aspect of our Canadian life must answer is: "What does it do to persons and families?"

That's why I believe that having the Queen, our Queen, at the centre is essential in the growing and assimilating we must do while our identity is coming.

In fact I'd go further and suggest that we should provide the Queen with two or three Canadian homes. Does someone object to the cost? My answer is: We are already paying a hundred times as much for things that live by destroying persons and families.

So I say: Let's take definite, positive, well-planned steps to provide our Queen with a real opportunity to be more and more truly the Queen of Canada.

Divorce Law Change

A joint committee of the Senate and Commons has had recommendations which, if adopted, will radically change the divorce situation in this country. The report will be welcomed by many as an indication that at long last this country will take steps to modernize its divorce laws.

The report recommended draft legislation for considerably wider divorce grounds. If adopted, it would mean that the present sordid circumvention of the law should be eliminated to a great degree. Even so, a group of MPs have already said that the committee's recommendations do not go far enough.

Senator Arthur Roebuck, chairman of the committee, has said that every one of the committee's recommendations had the support of public opinion. This would seem to be so.

Canada's present divorce laws were instituted in another age but public opinion has far outstripped the law.

Today most people feel there are many other reasons why a marriage should be dissolved than the simple one of infidelity which is the only recognized reason in most of Canada. Too, people resent the subterfuge necessary to obtain a divorce in this country today.

It is unlikely that the new legislation, if passed, will contribute to the breakup of more marriages. It may legalize the breakup which has been an unofficial fact accompli in many cases. On the other hand the new law, if passed, will be a blessed relief to many innocent persons who, under the present circumstances, find themselves chained irrevocably to a spouse from whom they should be separated.

Parliament should speed as quickly as possible the proposed changes in the divorce laws, in order that they may be brought closer to the present age and the current desire of the people of this country.

Interest In Interest

Victoria Times

The Advocate, published by the Vancouver Bar Association, draws attention to an interesting fact of financial life and clients in this country. "Each year hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest on clients' trust accounts are abandoned to the banks and trust companies," it says, adding: "These monies belong rightfully to clients."

The situation arises, according to the magazine, because of difficulties in computing interest on the accounts concerned.

"Since the calculation of interest is only made by the depository on minimum monthly balances, and since the accounts comprise a mixture of funds, it is practically impossible to distinguish the interest accumulated to each client's separate deposit," The Advocate explains.

A comparable condition has been avoided by passage of relatively simple legislation in Britain and highly complex law in Australia, according to the legal publication. In those countries the clients' interests are protected and they receive at least part of the interest due them.

"Whatever the merits of the respective plans may be," the article concludes, "English and Australian lawyers have done something to solve the problem. Surely lawyers in Canada should be equally resourceful in devising appropriate ways of disposing of these unclaimed monies."

The Advocate makes a good point. Who's looking after the client's interests, or who should be, if not his lawyer, in concert with other lawyers working toward appropriate legislation?

CANADA'S FIRST FARMER

Newest Soviet News Agency 'Orbited' With Cosmonauts

MONTREAL (CP)—When a couple of Russians stepped off the plane on the flight from Moscow to Montreal last January, it marked a step in the development of one of the world's little-known news agencies.

Boris Korolev went on to Ottawa to become the first cosmonaut in Canada of the Novosti Press Agency.

Yevgeny Ruzhnikov settled in at Expo 67 to work with the Soviet pavilion's 40-man information division.

Six men in the pavilion information division are on loan from Novosti, which is pronounced New-wave and is the Russian word for news.

"Our agency was founded in April, 1961, the same month that Yuri Gagarin made his space flight," says Ruzhnikov.

"Gagarin's flight was our first big step so you could say we went into orbit at the same time as Yuri.

"Novosti is a features syndicate, selling features about various aspects of Soviet life to subscribers in 106 foreign countries and selling features on foreign countries, to 700

subscribers in all parts of the Soviet Union.

"We operate six days a week, 16 hours a day, with a staff of almost 1,000 including 26 foreign correspondents in major news centres. There also are bureaus in all major cities of the 15 republics of the Soviet Union."

The agency differed from

Tass in that whereas Novosti

graphs mainly by mail but sometimes by various telecommunication facilities.

Tass supplied mainly hard news by telecommunication facilities. The word

Tass is a state-owned and state-operated organization which we are not.

"Novosti was founded by four sponsoring bodies which have been paying and will continue to pay our operating deficit until we get on to a paying basis. The bodies are the Union of Writers, the Union of Journalists, the Union of Friendship Societies and a society called Knowledge which is a society of lecturers.

"The groups had decided to form the agency because they felt there was a need for an outlet for both the Soviet press and the foreign press.

Boris Burkov, then deputy editor of the Moscow daily

Pravda, was appointed chairman of the board, and staff was recruited from other Moscow newspapers.

Spartak I. Boglov, chief political correspondent for Novosti who paid a short visit to Expo to collect material for features, said the average daily output of the agency is 200,000 words.

"Our average reporter and copy editor is paid 150 rubles

a month but we do a lot of translating work and our translation staff is paid on the amount of copy they produce.

Because the translation staff is important they often earn large amounts."

The exchange rate of exchange for the ruble is about $1.20 Canadian.

Mr. Ruzhnikov said that apart from translating stories from and into languages of foreign countries, Novosti has to contend with the 131 languages of the Soviet Union's 117 nationalities. The main languages into which Soviet-produced stories were translated were English, French,

German and Spanish.

Novosti staffers did not have to be members of the Communist party and "in fact only 12,000,000 of the Soviet Union's 233,000,000 population

are party members."

"Our agency supplies material for more than 30 periodicals published by Soviet embassy in various parts of the world that deal with Soviet life. Some of our staffers are attached to embassies to help with the production of the newspapers and magazines and to coordinate the roundup of Soviet news we distribute to our foreign members.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

A Silver Wedding And Other Yarns

By ART GRAY

The files of The Courier for July 1917 contain many interesting stories of happenings of 50 years ago, some happy, some tragic.

This Old Stager article tells of three events, two of a happy nature, and one tragic. The retirement of Archdeacon Catchpole of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church points up the fact that there have been only four incumbents of that office since the church was established in 1894, with Rev. Thomas Green travelling up from Penticton to conduct services in Lequime's Hall. In the July 5 issue of The Courier in 1917 there is an interesting story of "Silver Wedding Fete and Garden Party" held to honor the archdeacon and his wife upon having recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. The fete "took place in the spacious grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Binger and Mrs. Temple." The Courier tells us, and the presentation took the form of a purse of silver and a written address signed by the church wardens, on behalf of the congregation.

A SURPRISE?

The address briefly congratulated the archdeacon upon his appointment as the first archdeacon of the Okanagan, assuring him of the love and esteem in which both he and his wife were held. The whole thing was undoubtedly a complete surprise to the couple, but the archdeacon responded with well-fitted words, expressing both his own and his wife's thanks. He also included a few details of the early history of the parish. Unfortunately The Courier failed to record these references to the early days, which would have made most interesting reading today, no doubt.

The somewhat restrained atmosphere one might expect of a garden party was not in evidence, for we are told that "the crowd assembled giving three hearty cheers and a 'tiger' for the happy pair, which was preceded by the customary vocal honors of 'For They Are Jolly Good Fellows.'"

MORE OF SAME

The second happy story in The Courier tells of the return of three Kelowna men from active service in Europe with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. They were Sgt. George Kennedy, Pte. George Thomlinson and Pte. Ed. McDougall. The latter two had been returned due to sickness. Sgt. Kennedy had been wounded by shrapnel in the right hip in the Somme fighting in the vicinity of Thiepval. He had been in the militia in pre-war days, and had been called up for guard duty as soon as war was declared, but enlisted for overseas service and left in February 1915 for Europe.

After being wounded he spent some time in British hospitals, he was sent to Vancouver, from which city he had now arrived to visit old friends, but would be returning there to finish his period of convalescence. "With the exception of lameness he looks very well considering the hard experience he has been through," stated The Courier.

The report also stated "There is some possibility that his right arm may yet be injured also, if his numerous friends continue giving such strenuous vent to their pleasure at seeing him back again."

The tragic event that was reported in The Courier of July 5, 1917 had actually occurred in December of 1916, but the story in the later issue was a sequel, in which a mystery was solved, at least partially.

CANADA'S STORY

NWM Police Curbed

A Dangerous Situation

By BOB BOWMAN

In all Canadian history there was probably no more timely decision than to organize the North West Mounted Police, and have them patrol the prairies. Sir John A. Macdonald's government created the police force in 1873, but a Liberal government under Alexander Mackenzie was in power when the red-coated cavalrymen set out from Fort Dufferin, Manitoba, on July 8, 1874.

Strangely enough it was exactly two years later, July 8, 1876, that Sub-Inspector Cecil Denny heard startling news. Denny (who later became Sir Cecil) wrote "The Law Marches West" held a conference with Blackfoot chiefs who told him that Sitting Bull and the Sioux Indians in the U.S.A. wanted the Blackfoot to join them in warring on American and Canadian settlers on both sides of the border. The American Sioux had already won a battle at Little Horn and sent tobacco to the Blackfoot with an additional promise of horses, mules and captive white women if they would go on the warpath.

The Blackfoot refused the offer, and then Sitting Bull sent them another message that he would help them out after he had defeated the Americans. Denny promised the Blackfoot chiefs that the North West Mounted Police would protect them. It was a brave promise; 150 mounted men against 4,000 battle-hardened Sioux.

The Sioux began to arrive in December of that year, but they had been defeated by the U.S. Army. Sitting Bull joined them in May 1877 and set up a camp at Wood Mountain, southeast of the Cypress Hills. The Sioux felt that they had a right to look to Canada for protection. When they had fought for the British they had been promised that they would always be welcomed in the "Great Mother's Land."

The Sioux were starved out of Canada in 1881 which was shabby treatment. However the tiny NWMP force was relieved to see them go. It had kept control of a highly-explosive situation for four years.

OTHER EVENTS ON JULY 8:

1755 Admiral Boscawen captured French ship "Alade" and brought them to Halifax although they had been declared a prize of war.

1812 Fire at Montreal made 10,000 people homeless.

1890 Construction began of railway between Calgary and Edmonton.

1907 The first airship flying over Canada, a Canadian-built one, landed at Southampton, marking a new step in the history of transatlantic service.

1964 U.S. President Eisenhower held defense discussions in Ottawa.

Westbank Centennial Days Draw Much Local Interest

WESTBANK—Centennial Days in Westbank, held last weekend, were the culmination of many months of planning, with residents and participants entering into the spirit of Canada's 100th birthday.

Saturday's parade saw Main Street crowded with interested onlookers, all of whom applauded the well-while parade that demonstrated the local interest in such a show.

Among the excellent entries, of which there were 30 or more, was one of Al McLeod's proposed ski lift, whose slogan "A Barrel of Fun a Last" was particularly apt in that Last Mountain west of Glenora is the site for this $150,000 ski resort at the 4,500-foot mountain. The mountain is to be named "Mount Last" after Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Last, who came to Glenora from England in 1909 and opened the first store established there.

Another entry in the parade was the chuckwagon, authentically modelled and rebuilt by members of Westbank Centennial Committee, which attracted favorable comment. Westbank Orchards float depicted the varieties of fruit grown in this area, while many others also were well done, and were led by Westbank's Volunteer Fire Brigade truck. Receiving applause from all was the car in which rode Westbank's Centennial Queen, Mrs. C. R. (Verna) Cameron, the candidate chosen by George Pringle high school students, who won over the half-dozen others entered.

Queen Vienna presided over the two-day celebration fittingly attired in period costume.

A. H. Davidson unveiled the plaque commemorating completion of the Centennial project at Westbank Aquatic Park Friday afternoon, following which there were swimming and other races as well as aquatic attractions held during the afternoon. Winners of the various races were presented with Centennial medallions, as follows:

David Duncan, Richard Metz, Cathy Springer, Andrew Griffin, Janice Martens, Joanne Fen-ton, Shannon Reece and Jack Springer. Winning two prizes

each were Peter Osha and Christy-Anne Maxson.

Saturday's events, over which Queen Vienna also presided, opened with the parade at 11 a.m., and Main Street was crowded with onlookers for this creditable collection of floats, which included vintage cars, a loaded logging truck, people in cars and on foot, in centennial costume, and all led by the Queen.

Centennial Committee members Irwin Fallowfield and his willing helpers next took over and were busy for a couple of hours serving an open-air lunch at the Community Hall. By the time that was over it was time for the afternoon program put on by a host of residents from Westbank and Lakeview Heights, all of whom received well-deserved applause.

Presented as Centennial Capers, with Phil Weddell as the able master of ceremonies, and, of course, in period costume, the program was opened by Queen Vienna, after which Jerry Sambrooks gave a piano medley, followed by Mae Browne in a delightful parody of Gracie Fields.

Frollicking Flowers consisted of a group of girls who skillfully adapted old songs and flashbacks to modern days, and taking part in this were: Jennifer Beet, Marie Formby, Reri Reece, Donna Edwards, Sheri Wing, Debby Beet and Christine Embleton. A "spud dance" trio came next and was well acted out by Phil Wakefield, Derek Sewell and Dave Browne, drawing well-deserved applause, as did the Honky-Tonk Medley, with Banjo Bartle, Jumping Jerry and "Fats" Sambrooks at the piano.

"Professor Primrose" reciting "Albert and the Lion" was well received, while Don Kennedy's "Bob Duce's and Bill Kennedy's 'Bit of the Old West'" was encored loudly and long. Taking part in the "Youngsome Eightsome" were Sheri Wakefield, Susan Boynton, Donna Edwards, Shannon Reece, Barbara French, Jean Smith, Janice Rumley and Marlow Stephenson, all of whom executed a delightful square dance with variations.

Taking part in the Barbershop Quintette, with its inevitable "Sweet Adeline" were Robin Drought, Art Beet, Dave Brown, Derek Sewell and Milton Reece. This was followed by that scintillating soloist, Mae Browne, in a group of numbers which included "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Peggy O'Neill," after which Alison Paynter made a presentation to Mrs. Browne of a sheaf of flowers. Then came the birthday cake, with its one candle and a waltz number with Mae Browne and Derek Sewell, followed by the grand finale—the costume parade led by piper Len Campbell.

Queen Vienna, chosen as one of the costume judges, called on Mrs. Amy Windt and Mrs. A. Tozer to assist her in this, and the final choices of prize-winners was loudly applauded. Prize for the best couple went to Chief Norman Lindley and Mrs. Lindley, in their authentic Indian costumes, while Mrs. J. A. Brown was winner for the most authentic costume, a genuine period dress with fitted bodice and long sleeves, while the skirt featured the "waterfall" effect at the back. Award for the prettiest dress went to Mrs. C. F. Hoskins, and for the funniest, to Mrs. Hazen Manderson for her old-time bathing costume.

Even more difficult than judging the grown-ups were the children's costumes, of which there were many, but the choice finally fell to two little boys and a girl: John and Mark Pritchard and Christy-Anne Maxson.

The evening dance, with Johnny Gartell and his orchestra providing old-time music, was enjoyed, and that brought Westbank's official Centennial days to a close; but interest still is keen, and prizes are being offered for costumes at Westbank's Fall Fair, scheduled for September 1. After that—well, 1971 isn't so far away, and that year will be British Columbia's special birthday, commemorating its entry into confederation.

Dear Angel: The first thing you can do is cut out the second shift. A gal who has to stagger the traffic gives the impression that she is trying to break some sort of a record. And I suggest that you make a new rule—"Hands Off, one and all." Although you obviously consider yourself virtuous because you are technically intact, I suspect you are crowding the line, which can be risky as well as damaging to a girl's reputation.

ANN LANDERS

Staggering The Traffic Bad For Reputation

Dear Ann Landers: I am 16 and very popular. In fact, TOO popular. Please believe me when I say I am still a good girl. I admit I have necked with several guys (I started to date when I was 13) but I have never done anything I am really ashamed of.

The problem is that I get asked out so much and I like so many guys that sometimes I accept two dates for one night. For example, I'll accept a date with Freddie from 7 till 10, and then I'll tell Teddie to come over at 10:15 and we'll go for a ride or a late show at the drive-in. It has come back to me that I am getting a pretty tacky reputation.

Visitors Enjoy Regatta Fashion Luncheon

The first of the annual Lady-of-the-Lake Regatta luncheons was held in the Kelowna Aquatic on Wednesday. Mrs. Carl Briesse and Mrs. Roy Wignall acted as hostesses, and modelling the pretty Fumerton outfits were Miss Rotary, Marla Crittenden; Miss Cardeans, Lynn Billis; Mrs. Ian Collinson, and Mrs. Darrol Tarves.

The crisp crease resistant washable summer outfits shown were a refreshing change from the Centennial dresses which have been of such interest this year that we have barely noticed the '67 summer styles. Particularly smart was "linen ensemble consisting of a five-eighths length coat of printed cocoa and white linen worn over a sleeveless cocoa linen sheath fashioned with a printed yoke to match the coat. Suitable for teas, coffee parties or after-five, this ensemble was worn by Mrs. Ian Collinson with a white hat with a straw brim, puffed organdy crown and white accessories.

A pantsuit of blue and white checked, crease resistant, linen was up to the minute as worn by Mrs. Tarves with a white linen Carmody cap, and two casual outfits modelled by the contestants were a ruffled bikini and topped with an open-sided pinafore in a green and white daisy print modelled by Marla Crittenden who carried a white beach hat of braided linen to ward off too much sun at the beach, and a culotte outfit of arnel and cotton featuring front and back flaps to give a skirt effect shown by Lynn Billis.

A mauve blue and apple green elasticized one-piece bathing suit with an exuberant low back was stunning on Marla, and Lynn's choice of a bikini worn under a short beach coat of white cotton lace was also very attractive.

These luncheons which feature fashions from different Kelowna stores each week will take place each Wednesday until Regatta, with two Lady-of-the-Lake candidates modelling at each one. Delicious buffet luncheons are served and these weekly events not only provide a delightful way to become acquainted with candidates for this year's crown but also offer a very pleasant and effortless way to entertain your out-of-town guests.

Slumping Reds Paying Dearly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was the most expensive four-hit night of Pete Rose's career.

Rose smashed a triple, two doubles and a single, drove in three runs and scored twice as Cincinnati Reds downed Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 Friday night.

It cost him $50.

That's because the only time the Pirates retired him, Rose broke Cincinnati manager Dave Bristol's new rule that levies a $50 fine anytime a batter strands a runner at third base with less than two out.

Bristol installed the rule for the first time Friday, hoping to snap the Reds out of a lethargic slump that had seen them drop 14 of 10 games and fall from first to third place.

TRIPS COMPROMISE

Rose, the new system's first victim wasn't complaining. "It's a good rule," he grinned, waving $25 and some trading stamps he had collected from a post-game radio interview and trying to get Bristol to settle for that.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, San Francisco Giants nipped Los Angeles Dodgers, 2-1, Atlanta Braves went 11 innings before edging New York Mets 3-2.

Houston Astros battered Chicago Cubs 11-5 and St. Louis Cardinals dropped Philadelphia Phillies 5-1.

Rose's four hits raised his batting average to .326, sixth best in the National League.

Sammy Ellis went the route for the victory, scattering six Pirate hits and allowing two unearned runs. It was his first victory in nine starts since May 24.

Jim Hart smashed a two-run homer that broke a scoreless tie in the sixth inning and lifted the Giants over the Dodgers. Hart's 390-foot shot beat Bill Singer, who had shut out the Giants in his only other start against them.

Ray Sadecki, 3-0, and Frank Linzy limited the Dodgers to five hits. Jeff Torborg slammed a home run for Los Angeles.

HOMERS BEAT METS

Joe Torre drove in two runs with a single and homer and Mack Jones tagged the 11th inning homer that beat the Mets for the Braves.

Jones opened the 11th against reliever Jack Lamabe with his game-winning shot.

The Cubs absorbed their fifth straight defeat and fell 2½ games back of St. Louis as Houston's Barry Latman hurled 5 2-3 innings of two-hit relief.

A five-run fourth inning keyed by two-run doubles by Don Davis and Bob Aspromonte got the Astros going. Jimmy Wynn doubled across two more Houston runs in the fifth, lifting his league leading runs-batted-in total to 62.

It appeared there was no catching up with Chance, who scattered five hits until the ninth in a bid for his third shutout of the year against Chicago.

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

It took Gary Peters one inning to shut off Minnesota Twins—just as Eddie Stanky said he would.

It took Stanky a lot longer to turn on Chicago White Sox—but when opportunity finally knocked, they left nothing to chance.

The White Sox spotted Dean Chance a 1-0 first-inning lead Friday night, then scored twice in the ninth on Zoilo Versalles' two-out, bases-loaded error for a 2-1 victory that snapped Minnesota's eight-game winning streak and dropped the Twins into third place in the American League race.

Peters gave up doubles by Cesar Tovar and Tony Oliva in Twins until the ninth, when knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm came on to complete the two-hitter.

The loss left Minnesota a half game behind Detroit Tigers, who edged Boston Red Sox 5-1 in 11 innings, and 3½ length behind the first place Sox.

In other games Friday night, New York Yankees blanked Baltimore Orioles 3-0, Cleveland Indians trounced Washington Senators 6-3 and California Angels swept a doubleheader from Kansas City Athletics, 7-2 and 8-2.

Peters shackled the Twins power after his shaky start, but

WIMBLEDON, England (CP) — Billie Jean King, 138 pounds of energy and bounce, gets her chance today to do something that hasn't been done in 10 years—win all three women's events in the All-England tennis championships.

Mrs. King, a 23-year-old Californian, is favored to retain her women's singles crown when she plays Ann Jones of Britain.

And she's teamed with Rosemary Casals of the U.S. in the women's doubles and with Owen Davidson of Australia in the mixed doubles, all down to the finals stage.

The other final Wimbledon match today pits Roy Emerson and Ken Fletcher of Australia against Bob Hewitt and Frewie McMillan also of Australia, in the men's doubles.

John Newcombe, 23, of Australia easily won the men's singles Friday, disposing of West Germany's Wilhelm Bungert 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 in 75 minutes.

NO HOMER CROWD

Even the partisan British crowds, starved of home-grown success, make Mrs. King the favorite to retain the crown she first donned last year, although she will be playing a British girl.

Mrs. Jones, at 28, admits she is nearing the end of a long career that has brought her two French and one Italian titles

She also admits she doesn't have any "burning ambition" to win at Wimbledon.

But she defeated Rosemary Casals in the semi-finals and the centre-court will be crammed with fans hoping to see her become the first British girl to win here since Angela Mortimer six years ago.

If Mrs. King manages to collect all three titles, it will be the of the U.S., did it 16 years ago first time since Doris Hart, also

Golfers Do Not Fear The Hex of Ogopogo

John Russell, the Capilano and Point Grey star, came with in one stroke of a Kelowna course record Friday as he raced to the top of the Ogopogo tournament with a 67 to add to his 72 of Thursday. He stands two strokes ahead of the field, and his nearest competitor is not McCleery's Bert Ticehurst, the holder of the tournament title, but Gary Puder of Van Club who scored a 68 Friday after a 73 Thursday.

But there was a local newcomer to the scene Friday when 21-year-old Reg Saunders, who usually dispenses shirts and socks in a Kelowna store, caught fire on the back nine and scored a 33—one stroke better than Russell. His round of 68 was the best he has had on the course. He was Alberta Central junior champion before coming to Kelowna, and he carries the hopes of the Kelowna contingent. He had a 74 Thursday and is now one stroke behind Puder.

Next, one stroke behind, is Jack Grundle of Point Grey, at 143.

So whatever happened to Bert Ticehurst? He had a 74 on Thursday, and Friday still had bitter memories of the short 15th where his hopes vanished under the waters of the lake. He seems allergic to short holes on this course, and had to record a five on the 200-yard second hole after starting with a birdie. He had picked up two strokes by the fifth, and was level par for the front nine—not without some qualms and alarms. It was understandable that when he came to the 15th again, he veered far away from the lake and in fact played into the trap on the right. "I was happy to be there," he said. He got out with some difficulty and scored his only bogey of the back nine.

His back nine was not without more difficulty, for on the 16th his tee shot went flying into that area of pits and rocks and Sahara sand and dust on the right. It is an area that has spelled doom to many a good round. But Ticehurst happened to have a good lie, and there was a narrow gap between trees ahead. He took a three wood with enormous daring and slammed up a giant shot as straight as a gun barrel, to land almost pin high on the 500-yard hole, just off the green to the left. He made his par, and went on to birdie the 18th.

Everything happens in the Ogopogo, and this time there is a tournament baby. Ron Marshall of Point Grey rushed his wife to the Kelowna hospital Thursday night and sat up until 7 a.m. when he found himself the father of a daughter. He was on the tee at a quarter past eight, and shot a 75.

Most Ogopogo golfers attach great importance to the net scores, and at the top of the running are Frank Feist, tournament manager, with a 10 handicap. His net score is 137. John Russell, Van. 67-72-139. Gary Puder, Van. 68-73-141. Reg Saunders, Kel. 68-74-142. Jack Grundle, Van. 71-72-143. Bert Ticehurst, Van. 72-74-146. Ed Sparrow, Van. 74-73-147. Van. 75-73-148. Bob Pelmore, Nelson 74-75-149. Severin Harkson, Oswego Lake, Wash. 78-72-150. Ken Mulhern, Van. 74-76-150.

Sox Leave Nothing To Chance

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

It took Gary Peters one inning to shut off Minnesota Twins—just as Eddie Stanky said he would.

It took Stanky a lot longer to turn on Chicago White Sox—but when opportunity finally knocked, they left nothing to chance.

The White Sox spotted Dean Chance a 1-0 first-inning lead Friday night, then scored twice in the ninth on Zoilo Versalles' two-out, bases-loaded error for a 2-1 victory that snapped Minnesota's eight-game winning streak and dropped the Twins into third place in the American League race.

Peters gave up doubles by Cesar Tovar and Tony Oliva in Twins until the ninth, when knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm came on to complete the two-hitter.

The loss left Minnesota a half game behind Detroit Tigers, who edged Boston Red Sox 5-1 in 11 innings, and 3½ length behind the first place Sox.

In other games Friday night, New York Yankees blanked Baltimore Orioles 3-0, Cleveland Indians trounced Washington Senators 6-3 and California Angels swept a doubleheader from Kansas City Athletics, 7-2 and 8-2.

Peters shackled the Twins power after his shaky start, but

It appeared there was no catching up with Chance, who scattered five hits until the ninth in a bid for his third shutout of the year against Chicago.

Postal Workers In Holiday Row

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Union of Postal Workers Friday launched grievance procedures with the post office department to clarify the legal status of the July 3 public holiday.

William Kay, national president of the Union said July 3 should have been treated the same as July 1. Employees who worked July 1 were paid overtime rates and those whose rotating day off fell on that day were given an extra day off.

ORDERS FOR U.K. COMPUTER: OH, BEAT THE DRUMS SLOWLY . . .

KIDSGROVE, England (AP) — DEUCE the computer, getting old and able to do only 500 calculations a second, played its own funeral march Friday night.

Its makers, English Electric, programmed the computer to play the death march from Saul, and then sent seven-year-old DEUCE — digital electronic universal computing engine, to be made into spare parts.

"DEUCE is a piece of electronic equipment like a radio — except that it has no loud-speaker," a company spokesman said. "So we disconnected several parts of the computer, fitted a loudspeaker and programmed the tune on punched cards so that DEUCE could understand it."

The sound it made was just like an electronic organ. DEUCE used to analyse national election results on television but has been reduced lately to working out payrolls. Its modern offspring can do 60,000 calculations a second.

Expo Pushes Separatists Aside

MONTREAL (CP) — Expo 67 has thrust the movement for Quebec independence into the shade, separatist leader Pierre Bourgault said Friday.

He told a youthful audience of about 100 French-speaking Quebecers that press and public concentration on the big fair has brought this about.

Expo, in promoting the "illusion" of an economically well-off Quebec, harmed the independence movement.

"But there is a lesson at Expo that Quebecers may be missing," said the 38-year-old leader of le Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale. "Here we can see the pavilions of many peoples, who, although they are less numerous and less wealthy than Quebecers, have made themselves into sovereign nations."

Mr. Bourgault spent a relaxed but lively two hours in the Youth Pavilion at Expo fielding questions from young sympathizers and non-sympathizers, all of whom gave him prolonged applause at the end of the session.

The separatist leader, whose party won no seats in the last provincial election, said he believes supporters of Quebec independence will be able to win nationhood for their province by democratic rather than violent means.

"But if in the last resort we find violence is the only answer, I will adopt it at once."

Mr. Bourgault said many French-speaking Quebecers have worked hard at Expo "and are very proud of them."

He said pride should not blind French-Canadians to the fact that their economic situation remains unchanged.

"We are 80 per cent of the population of Quebec, but we control only 12 per cent of the economy."

"We must mobilize collectively and change all that," the separatist leader said to cries of bravo and loud applause.

Mr. Bourgault promised that if his party ever gains power and leads Quebec to independence, it will make French the "only official language of this province."

TREAT AS EQUALS

"But we won't make the mistake with the English-speaking Canadians that they have made with us. We will treat them like equal citizens."

The former journalist placed the RIN's political ideology to the left of both the Union Nationale, Quebec's governing party, and the Liberal party of the idea that the more right-wing Ralliement national, a second separatist party headed by former Creditiste Gilles Giguere, could ever become an RIN ally.

Manitoba Beer To Increase Search For Fliers Continues

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Liquor Board said Friday the price of bottled beer will increase in the near future.

Commission Chairman N. E. Hozer said the new consumer price will reflect higher prices paid by the commission to brewers.

Tiller said Friday, Pilot Keith Stevens, 40, and passengers Walter Perpeluk, 31, and Mike Rozyski, 39, all of Yorkton, were on a fishing trip when they disappeared.

ABANDON SEARCH

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — RCMP Friday called off a search in dense northern Saskatchewan forests for two prospectors. Abbie Halket and James Brady, both 40, were reported missing June 12.

SPECIAL LEAVES

WINNIPEG (CP) — The "Smiling Special" leaves for Expo 67 next week, it was announced Friday. A. J. Simkin, a city business man and lawyer, is taking along 30 nephews and nieces in a special CNR sleeping car. They will spend a week in Montreal as a centennial project.

China Supplies Small Arms To North Vietnam Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — China has supplied North Vietnam more than 750,000 small arms, many of which have been shipped on to forces fighting in South Vietnam, U.S. sources report.

The Soviets have furnished the North Vietnamese more than 10,000 artillery pieces, mortars and other heavy weapons.

These figures, gathered from a variety of U.S. government sources, indicate the scope of Soviet and Chinese aid to North Vietnam, the main supplier of the Viet Cong as well as North Vietnamese regulars in South Vietnam.

The volume of cargo unloaded by Soviet ships in Haiphong, North Vietnam's chief port, reached a record level of more than 200,000 tons in the first three months of this year.

U.S. experts calculate that Soviet military aid to North Vietnam totalled close to $1,500,000,000 from 1965 through last year. Chinese military assistance to North Vietnam came to nearly $200,000,000 through 1966.

Economic aid to North Vietnam from all Communist sources reached $1,500,000,000 during this period. About half came from Moscow, a little less than half came from China and 10 per cent from Communist nations of Eastern Europe.

The war in Vietnam currently is costing the United States about $25,000,000,000 a year.

The current assessment by knowledgeable U.S. officials is that even without help from the Soviet Union or China, North Vietnam could continue the war, but its effort would be much less effective.

China is providing most of the small arms, ammunition, anti-aircraft artillery, some heavy weapons and some trucks to North Vietnam, U.S. experts say. Moscow is furnishing virtually all of the petroleum supplies to North Vietnam, with some small amounts from Romania.

The Soviet Union also is sending North Vietnam most of its radar, surface-to-air missiles, MIG jet fighters, heavy weapons and some of its trucks.

North Vietnam's anti-aircraft artillery has become increasingly dangerous for attacking U.S. war planes.

China has sent to North Vietnam more than 5,000 anti-aircraft guns in the 14.5-millimetre, 37-millimetre, 57-millimetre, and 100-millimetre calibres. Moscow has shipped in with more than 2,000 such weapons.

It is not known how many surface-to-air missiles the Soviets have supplied North Vietnam, but many more than 3,000 have been fired so far.

U.S. authorities say Moscow has supplied North Vietnam about 80 MIG jet fighters and nearly 140 other military aircraft. China is reported to have given North Vietnam more than 40 MIGs.

B.C. Life Called Best

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Friday that British Columbia now has the highest standard of living in the world, on a "realistic basis" of comparison.

The premier told a press conference that in California, the richest state in the United States, residents have to pay as much as four times more for many of life's pleasures than residents of this province.

And even though average California incomes are higher than those in B.C., Californians do not have Medicare, hospital insurance or the homeowner grant, he said.

He said his Social Credit government will hold its 15th birthday party Aug. 1 but the site has not been set.

Woman Charged In Assault

SMITHERS (CP) — An Indian wife charged with assaulting two policemen the day after welfare officials removed a white child from her home was remanded to July 20 when she appeared in magistrate's court Friday.

Mrs. Sara Tait, 50, of nearby Morrice town, was charged the day after the three-year-old girl was taken away by a provincial welfare official June 22.

The little girl had lived with Mrs. Tait and her 52-year-old husband Thomas for two years. Mr. and Mrs. Tait were arrested after a man waved a gun at policemen in downtown Smithers.

Mr. Tait will also appear in court July 20 on charges of possession of an offensive weapon and violating a firearm.

A welfare department spokesman said the child was taken from the home "after quite a bit of consideration and deliberations by many different people" because the home situation was deteriorating.

The little girl is a ward of the welfare department.

Opening lead - two of diamonds.
What is the factor that distinguishes the expert from the average player in the play of the cards? In most cases it is simply that the expert, when faced with a problem, gives the matter that extra bit of thought that usually enables him to come up with the right answer, if there is one.
For example, note how our mythical expert approaches the play of this hand. He gets a diamond lead and wins East's ten with the ace.
It is obvious that the only possible losers are a heart and two clubs. However, a heart slam.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Sunday will be one of those days in which to "expect the unexpected." Many changes are possible—either in your personal or business life—but take all in stride. They should prove beneficial in the long run.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, for the next six months, it would be well to keep your enthusiasms under control and maintain a down-to-earth attitude in monetary concerns. Emphasize conservatism—especially during the first week of August and throughout September, November and December. No extravagance! No speculation! No signing of risky financial commitments!
But don't be discouraged. Try to keep in mind that this will be a period for planning. And, good plans for financial expansion, conceived and executed during September and October, particularly, should yield fine returns during the first three months of 1968; also, during the three-month period beginning on June 1st.

Occupational progress is definitely "in the stars" during the next 12 months, however, with most notable periods for advancement indicated during the last two weeks of August, the last week in September, the last two weeks in October, late December, next February and/or May.

Your social life should be extremely stimulating during most of the next 12 months.

NOTICE HAD APPEAL
MOOSE JAW (CP) - Notices to members of the last meeting of the boy scouts and wolf cubs group committee had a special come-hither appeal. The society ran out of duplicating fluid during the mailing and substituted her husband's after-shave lotion.

PERMS FOR FORCES
MONTREAL (CP) - Margaret Gherasim of Regina, six months ago a freelance hairdresser with the CBC, now is applying comb and hairspray to military heads. Pressed into temporary military service, Capt. Gherasim gives now a hairdo daily to the 38 women in the Canadian Forces Tattoo at Expo 67.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine intellect and great versatility; could do exceptionally well in the diplomatic field.
